Many are the routes that lead to Machu Picchu but none of them is quite like the Inca trail, the most famous pathway in the Americas. After flying to Cusco, which you explore along with other ancient Inca sites in the Sacred Valley, you begin a four-day odyssey high in the Andes, crossing forests and thick mists, climbing thousand-year-old stone steps and discovering the sites of ruined Inca fortresses and cities, while enjoying majestic views. The reward comes with the first, exciting sighting of Machu Picchu from the Inti Punku, followed by a tour of the citadel itself.

DAY 1

Start this adventure arriving in Cusco from Lima. Once in the 'Imperial City' you are transferred to your hotel in the Sacred Valley.

*Not included: Breakfast, lunch and dinner.

DAY 2

Transfer from you hotel to Piscacucho. On the way, make a stop in the historic town of Ollantaytambo. Once in Piscacucho, start the walk until reaching the camp in Wayllabamba.

*Included: Breakfast, lunch and dinner in the camp.

DAY 3

Start with the most demanding stretch of the walk ascending to Warmi Wañusca. Then start the descent to the second camp in Pacaymayo. Enjoy a good rest. *Included: Breakfast, lunch and dinner in the camp.

DAY 4

Ascend to Runkurakay, and then descend to Chaquicocha, to enjoy a delicious lunch. Continue ascending until you reach the Phuyupatamarca Pass. Walk through a beautiful cloud forest until reaching the last camp: Wiñayhuayna.

Included: Breakfast, lunch and dinner in the camp.

DAY 5

Restart the walk and arrive at Intipunku, gateway to Machu Picchu. Appreciate the Historic Sanctuary and then descend to the citadel. At the end of the tour return by bus to Aguas Calientes. Lunch at Café Inkaterra. In the afternoon, board the train to Ollantayambo, from where you are transferred to your hotel in Cusco.
